

e-Communication offers a variety of technology assets to students within the program to use throughout the school year. These items include, but are not limited to:

- Desktop computers
- Laptop computers
- Video Cameras
- Tripods, dollies, cranes
- Microphones
- Lighting Equipment
- DSLR Cameras

And range in replacement and repair cost from $5-$5,000.

In order to continue to provide the technology to students on an ongoing basis, we ask that the student and parent/legal guardian accept the technology use responsibilities listed below. To indicate you understand the technology use responsibilities, please initial each line and provide your signature at the bottom of the page.

Term: Students may use e-Communication technology during their enrollment in program. Upon termination of a student's enrollment, Parent/Guardian and student's rights expire to use the technology. e-Communication reserves the right to terminate this right if the student and/or Parent/Guardian is believed to have violated any part of the agreement.

Ownership: The technology is the sole property of e-Communication and at no time will the ownership be transferred to the Parent/Guardian or student.

Condition: The Parent/Guardian and student agree to report a loss or damaged item that may occur to any technology item under the care of the student. The Parent/Guardian is solely liable for any loss or damage that occurs to any technology item in the care of the student and agree to pay for repairs or replacements.

Maintenance and Repair: The student is responsible for reporting any needed maintenance or repair upon return of the item.

Use of Technology: The parent/guardian and student agree the technology is to be used for the education of the student while enrolled in the e-Communication program and not for the benefit of any other person or for any other purpose.

Financial Responsibility: The parent/guardian agrees that he or she will be financially liable for the technology.

By signing below, you agree to the terms listed above.
